

NOW PLAYING:
AT SBW LEARNING CENTER
College Level Learning

- Nail Down Your Writing Fundamentals regarding Sentences
- Put more variety into your sentences.
- Watch a DVD by Brooks Landon
- No homework; brief pauses for informal discussion
- Immediate practical results in your writing

Taught by The University of Iowa's Professor Brooks Landon

"Exploring the Writers Craft" DVD series

Where: The Westmont (Retirement Community)
1675 Scott Blvd
Santa Clara, CA 95050

When: 7:30 PM to 9:15 PM
2nd and 4th Thursdays

(We will skip Thanksgiving and Christmas Eve.)
Begins October 22, 2009

---

"Learning Center" host and projectionist:

Richard Burns
richard5599@att.net
(408) 986-8710

*So now, let's look at this sentence from Memento
Mori (1950) by Muriel Spark:*

*"He went to speak to Mrs.
Bean, tiny among the pillows,
her small toothless mouth
open like an "O," her skin stretched thin and white over her bones, her huge eyesockets and eyes fixed in an infant like stare, and her sparse..."*

See you there!

Meetings scheduled through May 27, 2010

Time's running out!

